Current Coronavirus Information no. 6

Dear Members of the University Community at UAS Neubrandenburg,

Due to the ongoing development of the coronavirus pandemic, and in agreement with decisions made by the management at the state's other tertiary education institutions, the University Governance sees itself forced to strongly restrict public access to the campus.

The following measures are added to those that have been met previously and apply with immediate effect up until and including 19/04/2020:

Public Access

There is now heavily restricted access to the university premises; all forms of consultation hours are cancelled. All of the organisational units that belong to the central university administration and the central facilities will only be operated by a minimum number of staff. The institutions/facilities can still be contacted with regard to any matter via email and/or telephone. However, due to keeping the number of staff to a minimum, there may be restrictions in the availability of staff members. The University Governance kindly asks you to understand that not all services can be provided in the usual manner.

Access to the university campus is no longer permitted without urgent reasons. Students and prospective students are not allowed to access the university premises until further notice.

The University's computer rooms are closed with immediate effect. Access to the gym and the music room is also currently prohibited.

University Bodies

Meetings at the University of Applied Sciences are to be reduced to an absolute minimum and must comply with the precautionary measures and hygiene practices that we have previously communicated, or should be replaced by formats that do not require the presence of participants.

In particular, until further notice, no sessions shall take place for the university bodies (Senate, Rectorate committees, faculty councils, faculty committees e.g. examination boards and appointment committees). Required decisions shall be made using the circulation procedure.

Classes

In accordance with the notification issued by Mecklenburg-Vorpommern's Ministry of Education, Science and Culture on 13/03/2020, face-to-face teaching at UAS Neubrandenburg is suspended up until and including Sunday, 19 April 2020. This applies to all components of studying and teaching (lectures, seminars, tutorials, practicals, laboratory practicals, excursions or similar forms of face-to-face teaching).

Supervision of Children

No emergency childcare can be provided on the university campus. Employees are not permitted to bring their children with them to the university.

We are aware of the massive consequences for all of the University's areas of activity. However, we can assure you that we are currently looking for pragmatic solutions to all of the various effects.

Furthermore, the previously communicated regulations and measures still apply and are being updated regularly.

Thank you for your understanding und your support!

Yours sincerely,

Prof. Dr. Teschke

Eckstein
